I was [redacted] immediate supervisor for approximately 18 months during 1947 and 1948. However, due to the fact that our offices were separated by the distance between Cairo, Egypt, and Washington, D. C., during this period, that his duties did not require a demonstration of the qualifications you list as requisites, and that I do not personally know of any experience [redacted] has had in research writing and analysis of the type in which I understand you are engaged, I could not conscientiously recommend him to you for such an assignment.

Sincerely,

L. K. White
